

National Council Engage

Cheat Sheet

Join/Log in to Engage

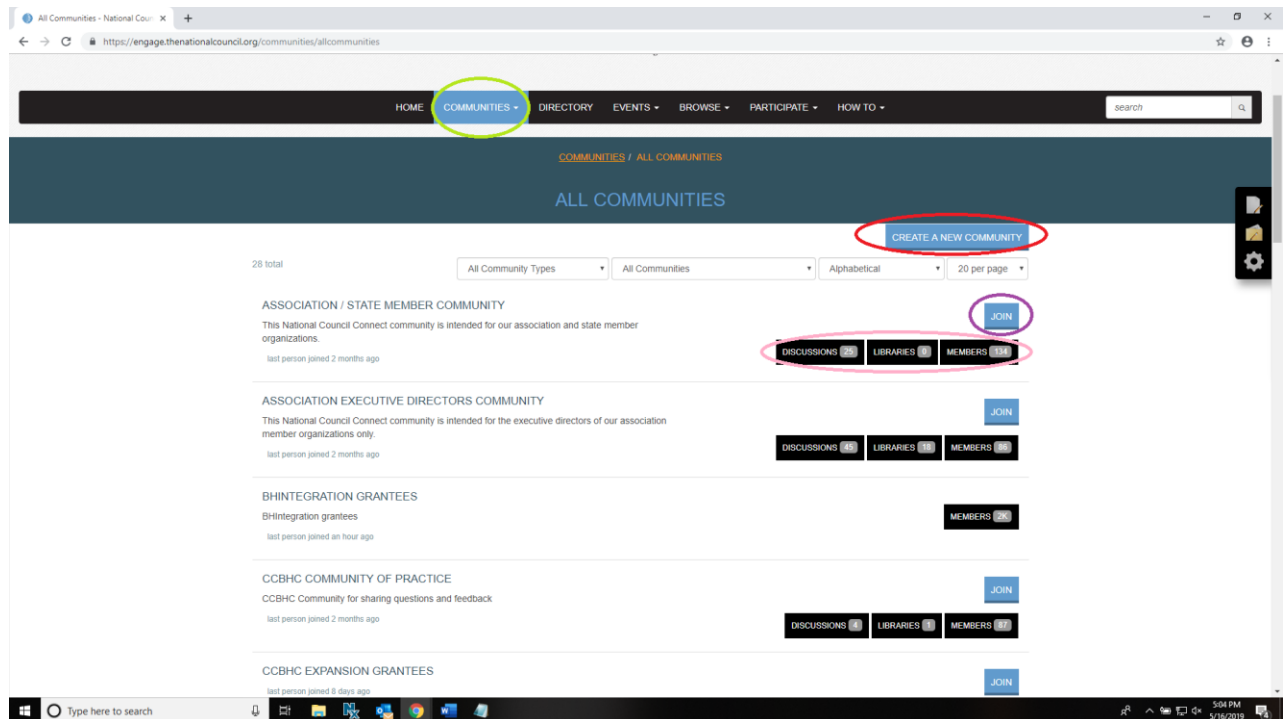

Ready to join or log in to Engage? It's easy! First, visit Engage.TheNationalCouncil.org. You'll know you're in the right place when you see a screen like the one above.

In the upper-right corner of the webpage, you will see a "Sign In" button (circled in yellow here). To access the Engage platform, simply click the button.

To sign in, you will need to use the same email and password you use to log in to the National Council homepage, at TheNationalCouncil.org. Can't remember your password? Use "council" as your temporary password, then create a new one. If you still need help accessing your account, please contact MembershipTeam@TheNationalCouncil.org for assistance.

If you are new to Engage, you will be asked to create a profile when you log in. Once you create a profile, you will be sent back to the Engage homepage, where you can start participating in discussions. If you already have an Engage profile, you will be taken to the Engage homepage.

Participate in Communities

Ready to start or follow discussions in a community? Click on the “Communities” button in the navigation bar, then click on “All Communities.” You will see the “Explore Other Functions” page.

This is where you can search for different communities, join communities and read or add comments to ongoing discussions.

- To create a community, click on the “Create a New Community” button circled in red.
- To join a community, click on the “Join” button circled in purple.
- To read discussions, explore libraries for resources or see which members have joined the community, click the options circled in pink.
